CERTIFICATIONS

CITRICULTURE

Persian Lime is one of the most dominant fruits within the Mexican agricultural sector. It accounts for 40% of horticultural production land in Mexico. This makes Mexico the world's largest lime producer. The state of Veracruz has developed Mexico's most advanced infrastructure for Persian Lime packaging and export. Martínez de la Torre in Veracruz is called the "Citrus Capital of the World".

Seedless citrus fruit with a high vitamin C and fibre content, aiding digestion and iron absorption. It can also reduce side effects caused by allergic reactions.
